Warden in axe terror

A MOTORIST who swung an axe inches from a traffic warden's face was yesterday jailed for 32 months.

Robert Rayment, 32, of Blackfield, near Southampton, admitted affray.

The warden has since quit his job, Southampton Crown Court heard.

Goodnight to snoring

DOCTORS claim to have invented a cure for snoring.

Boffins in Norway found that stiffening the roof of the mouth with tiny threads stops vibrations that cause snoring.

The procedure does not hurt and leaves no scar.

reasons, sparked a dramatic police chase when officers caught him behind the wheel of a stolen Ford Mondeo last month.

Smashed

They arrested him after the motor hit a kerb and they found he was slightly over the alcohol limit of 80mg. A passenger in the car ran off.

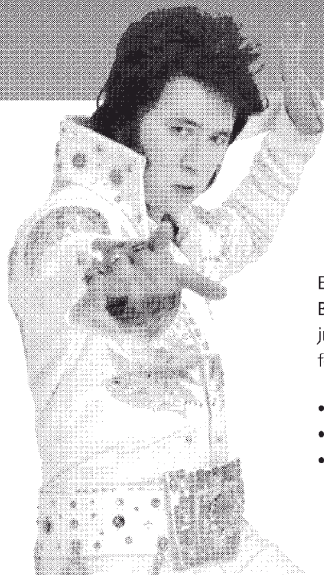

Yesterday the teenager appeared before magistrates in Salford, Gtr Manchester, and admitted driving with excess alcohol, aggravated vehicle taking, driving while disqualified and having no insurance.

The case was adjourned for reports until next month.

A spokesman for road safety charity Brake said: "This case highlights the problem of young drink-drivers causing havoc on our roads."

Phones go back to the future

DESIGNER Nic Roope has a call for you – to buy his antique-style phones that are so old-fashioned they've come back into style. The retro handsets are wired up so they will plug into your mobile phone in the same way as a hands-free kit. And, even at £150 a go, they've become the latest must-have handsets for trendy phone users. "It's definitely caught the public's imagination," says London-based Nic. "Now I want to turn them into a fashion item."

MONEY MAN NICKED £9m FOR BETTING

AN accountant stole £9million from his company to fund his gambling habit.

Wing Kit Chu, 32, used colleagues' passwords to log on to his firm's computers and authorise massive payments to his gambling account.

The finance expert withdrew almost £9m in three days as he placed bets on whether shares on the stock exchange would go up or down in price.

His losing streak lasted five years before auditors spotted the missing millions at engineering firm Charter Plc.

Jailed

The £9m he nicked up to June this year was double that taken by City secretary Joyti De-Laurey, 35, who was jailed for seven years in July for stealing from her bosses at Goldman Sachs.

At Southwark Crown Court,

CITY THIEF: De-Laurey

by JAMES WICKHAM

Wing admitted 28 charges of theft and asked for 74 others to be considered.

The court heard he was able to wire the funds directly into his gambling account in his bosses' names.

At the end of his losing run, there was just £800,000 left of the massive sum.

He and his wife moved into a £600,000 home in Farnham Common, Bucks, a few months before his arrest.

Wing vanished after auditors started asking questions, leaving an e-mail which read: "I am sorry I have let you all down."

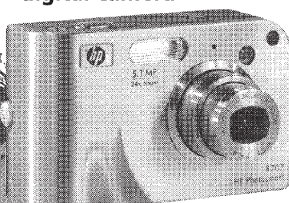

He turned himself in to police early in September after three weeks on the run.

Caroline English, defending, told the court Wing was a "pathological" gambler.

He was remanded in custody and will be sentenced next month.

Ian pulls his Xmas cracker

IT'S a really happy Christmas for EastEnders Ian Beale as he ends up under the covers with Jane Collins.

As our pictures show, after weeks of flirting at the café the pair finally share a night of passion on Christmas Day.

Fans will see Ian (Adam Woodyatt, 38) and Jane (Laurie Brett, 35) waking up together on Boxing Day.

But there could be trouble ahead, as Jane tries to deal with the guilt of cheating on her sick husband David.

THE New Year wedding in Emmerdale ends in uproar with guests fighting in the church.

A plot by Sadie King leads to her dad-in-law Tom rejecting his bride Charity Tate at the altar.

He will refuse to take his vows after seeing compromising pictures of Charity (Emma Atkins, 29) groping ex-lover Cain Dingle (Jeff Hordley, 36).

And when businessman Tom (Ken Farrington, 68) blurts out in church that his bride has been sleeping with her cousin, all hell

Tearful exit for crazy Karen

THESE are the emotional scenes as Karen McDonald leaves Coronation Street for the last time.

She survives a rooftop catfight with love rival Tracy Barlow but gets booted out on Boxing Day by husband Steve, who can't take any more of her deranged behaviour.

He's had enough after Karen (Suranne Jones, 25) steals the motor he won on a TV show, with his baby Amy in the back.

Packs

Steve (Simon Gregson, 30) and Amy's mum Tracy think the tot is dead when Karen, devastated by her miscarriage, torches the people-carrier.

Tracy (Kate Ford, 27) and Karen have a dramatic showdown on the roof of Mike Baldwin's factory.

But Steve can't forgive his mad missus.

Tearful Karen packs and takes a final look at the Street before she is driven off. A Corrie insider said: "It's an emotional exit for Karen as she makes her last walk down the cobbles."

LAST GOODBYE: Karen takes a final look down Coronation Street before leaving in a taxi, right, after her showdown with rival Tracy, below

Curtis tackles racists

BLACK Harchester United stars will face a barrage of monkey chants when TV's Dream Team tackles racism in football.

In an episode of the Sky One series next year, striker Curtis Alexander (Chuckie Venice) will be among the hate victims.

A show spokeswoman said: "We are filming a story about racism within football which will be shown early next year."

"Harchester United players will come under attack and we will show it affects them."

"It's an issue which has been in the headlines and Dream Team likes to tackle real-life situations."

NEW YEAR

Charity's wedding ends in punch-up breaks loose. His sons Jimmy (Nick Miles, 37) and Carl (Tom Lister, 26) confront Cain and his Uncle Zak (Steve Halliwell, 50) and a vicious punch-up breaks out.

Snog

But it's all a set-up because Sadie (Patsy Kensit, 36) doesn't want ex-hooker Charity to get her hands on Tom's millions.

The plot takes shape on January 4 when Sadie pays Cain to walk up to Charity and snog her in the street. Disgusted Charity pushes him away – but not before a private detective has taken some compromising photos.

Then evil Sadie presents the "evidence" to Tom on the day of the wedding.

There are murmurs among the villagers as Tom fails to arrive at the church. But he eventually waltzes in.

An insider said: "The ceremony begins but the congregation is shocked when Tom announces that Charity has been seeing someone else."

Brawl

"She pleads her innocence but Tom refuses to listen and a brawl breaks out between the Kings and the Dingles."

"As the mayhem continues, Charity insists to Tom that she has been set up, begging him to go through with the wedding."

But it's too late as Tom storms out of the church.

EXCLUSIVE: CHECK THIS SEXY HIGH STREET

Bliss
hotby KERRI O'NEILL
Daily Star Fashion Editor

SLIP into these red-hot undies to turn yourself into the cracker that every fella will be wanting to pull.

The hot new Camelia range from high street giant Bhs is just the thing to get festivities off to a storming start.

Dazzling Danish model Malene Espensen shows off just what they can do for you by turning on the style big time.

Like 24-year-old Malene, it would be hard not to feel good about these sexy undies. In fact, they're the perfect pick-me-up any woman needs.

Busty Malene tells us she has to work hard to stay in condition to model frillies like this to perfection.

And you can steal her style tips too. Add an eye-popping uplift bra or a fabulous flash of flesh and you know you're on to a winner. If you want to turn up the glitz between the sheets, sexy black and pink is always a good choice.

It's very glamorous and also stirs up images of old-style Hollywood, which is such a popular look right now. It smacks of being sumptuously stylish.

Magical Malene is not the only one to be getting a gorgeous makeover.

The Bhs chain is about to get a multi-million pound re-vamp making its shops some of the best around.

The firm's flamboyant boss Philip Green is promising a glitzy facelift for 50 stores across the country, plus upmarket clothing lines that shoppers won't be able to resist.

And looking at this glam new collection of lingerie, we reckon he's spot-on.

With thongs for just £6 and bras as little as £16, they won't break the bank.

So get down to Bhs and check out how to give yourself that movie star appeal and pick up fans galore among the fellas.

If you haven't got a camera phone, don't wait for Santa...

...Virgin Mobile has £20 off a brilliant range of camera phones plus they've got their fantastic 'any network' airtime bundles to make using them better value than ever before!

Just think of the fun you can stretch out over this Christmas season if you have the incriminating snaps on your phone. No more long, rambling descriptions, no need to blurt 'You should have seen them!' - just show them the picture captured on your mobile and keep out front with Virgin Mobile bundles. Great moments really should stay with you for longer than just a short-term memory burst. So, if you want to last longer - and let's face it who doesn't? - then pick up a camera phone before Santa runs out and wade into Virgin Mobile's airtime bundles that allow you to mix and match calls, texts and pictures.

These fantastic bundles can be used to call or text any UK networks so if you make lots of calls or send lots of messages to other UK networks, they're fantastic value. And only Virgin Mobile lets you keep unused airtime - just buy another bundle and you can take the unused airtime with you for one month. No other networks let you do that.

If you are thinking of Christmas presents, bundles are a perfect stocking filler... to go with the camera phone that is this season's must-have gift.

I know my camera phone will be getting plenty of action over the party season! This Christmas and New Year are going to be the most snapped on record so make sure you can go the distance and last longer with Virgin Mobile.

WIN A LONGER LASTING WEEKEND TO LA

Also up for grabs are five pairs of Virgin Mobile Motorola V220 camera phones as runner up prizes

Get your New Year off to a flying start. Enter this fantastic competition to celebrate Virgin Mobile's stunning gallery of camera phones and amazing £20 off deal.

It's New Year's Eve and the clock is ticking so you need a decent resolution to keep you going through the chill month of January. What about: "I must get out more" or "I must go somewhere exotic" or even "I must try to spot Pamela Anderson or George Clooney".

Virgin Mobile can make the resolution a reality with its incredible offer of a free holiday to L.A. The lucky winner will jet off on a luxury flight to the West Coast for a longer-lasting weekend in the city that never stops.

Cruise down Sunset Boulevard and get in some serious star-spotting in the shadows of the giant Hollywood sign that dominates the hills above Tinseltown

It is a glittering once-in-a-lifetime weekend that will give you memories that will last a whole lot longer than that mini-break at the out of season holiday camp.

You can shop, party or simply soak up the atmosphere of a unique city and Virgin Mobile will make sure the weekend lasts longer by stretching it to three nights.

Just think of the pictures you can send home to envious mates. LA is a city of stars so you wouldn't want to forget your Virgin Mobile camera phone and miss out on the chance to snap a gallery of images that will send the jealousy factor off the scale.

Celebs from the world of music and film often come out to play in Beverley Hills and Hollywood so you can be there to capture the moments while you enjoy a luxury break courtesy of Virgin Mobile. If you are looking for stars, you're going to the right place.

We will fly you direct from London to LAX and make sure you stay at a swanky hotel so the trip is A-List enjoyment all the way.

Being a runner-up isn't so bad either as we have five pairs of Virgin Mobile Motorola V220 camera phones to give away. These super-cool phones come with an in built camera with zoom and picture messaging capability, MP3 Ringtones, Enhanced WAP plus it's 'TriBand' meaning you can use the V220 all over the world.

They are must-have phones and are ideal for getting the best out of the new Virgin Mobile airtime bundles.

Just answer this simple question

Q: What is the first name of US hip hop star Missy Elliott, who appears in the Virgin Mobile TV adverts.

- a) Melissa
- b) Arthur
- c) Camilla

To enter all you need to do is text "BUNDLES" followed to by your answer to 80310 eg. "BUNDLES A". Texts cost 3p from Virgin Mobile phones in the UK, standard charges apply for all other networks.

The competition, which is open to UK residents aged 18 and over, offers a rare opportunity to hit LA in style so get going! There's some legal stuff opposite to check before you enter - good luck!

MIKE WARD WHAT'S HOT TO WATCH

WITH Santa on his merry old way, is the prospect of Christmas bringing a smile to your face? Are you brimming with festive spirit? Right, well we can soon put a stop to that. Just tune in tonight to Ho-Ho-Holby City (BBC1, 8pm) - trust me, it'll drag you back down in no time. For starters, things turn doubly sour between Mubbs and Rosie. First, it turns out he's told his parents pretty much bog-al about her, such as the fact she's been married before and the fact she has two kids. Oh, and the fact that she's expecting his baby. Second, she sees him nattering with Chrissie at the Christmas bash and jumps to all kinds of damaging conclusions. Still, you can think of more depressing Crimbo storylines, right? Yeah, well, so can the writers because elsewhere Tricia's chum Maggie is told she only has days to live. All of which should leave you in just the right frame of mind for Grumpy Old Women At Christmas (BBC2, 9pm). It features famous names such as Janet Street-Porter, Linda Robson, Jenny Eclair and Sheila Hancock having a right old whinge about the festive season's downside.

...on last night's telly

YOU might have felt your heartstrings were being tugged during CHRISTMAS LIGHTS (ITV1).

Well, of course they were. It's that time of year when Scrooge himself comes over soppy and sentimental, and TV companies are well aware that the most hard-hearted viewer is prone to the Aaaah...factor.

Writers Jeff Pope (who scripted the year's big 'feel-good' hit Doc Martin) and comedian Bob Mills manipulated our emotions with scant sense of shame.

Each stage of the plot was laid out in advance – so illuminated, it's a wonder it didn't send the National Grid into meltdown.

Colin (Robson Green) and Howard (Mark Benton) had competed in one-upmanship ever since they were schoolboys.

They married sisters Jackie and Maxine (Peake) and lived three doors away from each other.

Colin revelled in having the prettier wife, plus three lovely children, the smarter car and now, the most flashy Christmas lights outside his house.

Nice

Howard's wife was on the plain side – and the couple were childless. But Howard worked harder (at the transport depot where the brothers-in-law were both drivers), and was clearly an all-round nicer human being.

When Howard rigged up some lights of his own that were just a bit brighter, Colin sank into a childish sulk and proceeded to empty the family building society account to festoon their home with tackier illuminations.

Relations seemed to have frozen solid when Howard got the foreman's job and became Colin's boss.

Then the man who Colin sheeringly accused of having everything, discovered that he had something else – cancer.

Even if your heart is as icy as a snowman's, the chances are that you'd have been wiping away a little tear at the inevitably happy ending.

Best to pretend you felt a cold coming on.

Thigh say!

THE traditional Christmas panto is getting a reality check this year with a host of fly-on-the-wall TV stars flocking to tread the boards at a theatre near YOU. Reality TV shows like Big Brother and X-Factor have been huge hits, turning hundreds of complete unknowns into household names.

So much so, they're now taking centre stage to camp it up in

by VICKY LISSAMAN

thigh-slapping festive style. With the official Big Brother panto series starting on Channel 4 today, the dramas have already begun with the show's stars squabbling over parts.

Blonde big mouth Jade Goody, 23, has stirred up trouble by insisting she plays the part of Cinderella and lesbian Kitten Pinder, 24, and hardman Victor Ebuwa, 23, have come to blows over who's going to play Buttons.

But even for those who haven't made it on to the TV version, there are still plenty of opportunities across the country. Here we take a look at which reality stars will be swapping TV for wigs and war paint:

Michelle Bass
SAUCY Michelle, 23, who starred in Big Brother 5, will be playing the princess in Aladdin in St Albans, Hertfordshire. The sexy Geordie will pull on a long frock and sparkly tiara to play her.

Claire Sweeney
SCOUSER Claire, 32, who won votes with her team-making skills in Celebrity Big Brother, will be treating audiences to an eye full of her shapely thighs when she steps up to play the principal boy in Aladdin at Wimbledon Theatre.

Brendan Cole
DANCER Brendan, 28, who shot to fame as Natasha Kaplinski's partner in the first series of Strictly Come Dancing, plays Prince Charming in Cinderella in Halifax. But charming he's not - he reduced Casualty star Sarah Manners, 29, to tears in series two.

SHY PRINCESS: Michelle Bass

Craig Philips
Winner of Big Brother 1 Craig will be starring in Aladdin in Southport. Scouser Craig, 32, began his career as a handyman so will have had plenty of practice in buffing things up.

Cameron Stout
Big Brother 4 winner Cameron, 33, is performing in Snow White in Aberdeen but he's an odd choice to play Prince Charming, having admitted on BB that he'd never been all the way with a woman - ever!

Penny Ellis
Big Brother's batty bird Penny, 35, the ex school-teacher who bared her boobs in the second series, is playing a character called Katy Cucumber in Jack and the Beanstalk in Porthcawl.

Joe Pasquale
Panto bosses at Birmingham Hippodrome will no doubt be rubbing their hands together with glee after securing King of the Jungle Joe, 43, to play Jack in Jack and the Beanstalk.

CHARMER: Brendan Cole with CBBC's Stacey Cadman

LADY WITH THE LAMP: Principal boy Claire Sweeney is sure to be popular when she shows off her pins as Aladdin

Nadia Almada
Sex-change Portu-geezer Nadia, 27, who won Big Brother 5, will make a stunning mermaid in Peter Pan in Southampton.

Alison Hammond
Roly-poly Brummie Alison, 29, an early reject of Big Brother 3, plays the Lilac Fairy in Sleeping Beauty in Telford, Shropshire - while pregnant!

Paul Daniels and Debbie McGee
Muck-raking stars of The Farm, Paul, 63, and his wife (the lovely) Debbie, 45, will be working their magic on panto fans in Beauty and the Beast at Hayes in Middlesex.

Andy Steed
X-Factor's Andy, 24, will be appearing as the genie of the lamp in Aladdin in Telford. Looks like Scouser Andy will be gone in a puff of smoke after this, just like he was on X-Factor.

Marc Dillon
Pop Idol 2 star Marc, 24, survived the tongue lashings of Simon Cowell - so he should have no problem with the lively panto audiences at The Hawth in Crawley, where he plays Prince Charming in Cinderella.

ALL STALK: Jungle king Joe Pasquale will play Jack
